Plot: Books are fighting over which book is more popular

Dictionary: Where's the owner, we love to be R-E-A-D read by him.

Shakespeare: To Be Read or Not to Be Read- that is the question comrades.

Dorothy: If we just close our eyes and tap our pages 3 times...

Grumpy: Oh would you give that a rest. We all know what happens in your story.

Little Red Riding Hood: I brought the owner a basket from my grandmas house, so he would want to read my story.

Batman: I am Batman. Where are they?

Dracula: Batman, you're just full of pictures. Nothing to sink my teeth into.

Batman: They've made more blockbusters from my story than any of yours'.

Dracula: I don't know about that, do you even know how many vampire movies are out there?!

Dracula pushes Batman comic book off the shelf

Little Red Riding Hood: Why did you do that?! Grandma would not approve!

Dorothy: Woah! That was just like the tornado that took me away! Are you okay?

Watson: Come on, he's Batman. He'll be fine.

Sherlock: Come on Watson, we need to get to the bottom of this mystery!

Dictionary: Well he didn't take me.
S-A-D sad. No one reads me anymore.

Pinnochio: Well everyone NOSE he was going to take me!

Pinnochio's nose grows out

Big Bad Wolf: Oh there goes that nose again. I should huff, and puff, and blow you down!

Grumpy: You're so old you couldn't even blow down a house made of dandelions.

Shakespeare: He was eyeing my book, Romeo and Juliet. A classic for the ages.

Snow Queen: Well you don't see Disney doing remakes of any of your works!

Sherlock: Quiet everyone! He's coming back, we can finally solve the mystery of the missing book.

Owner puts a book back on the shelf

Owner: What's this doing down here?

Batman: It is me. It is batman

Owner: I love reading this. I think I will read it again.

Batman: Bye everyone!

Watson: Sherlock look! He took Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire!

Everyone: GASP

Big Bad Wolf: Oh of course! Why is everyone so obsessed with Harry Potter?! There's not even any pigs in it!

Sherlock: I knew it the whole time,
Watson.

Watson: Of course you did, sir...

Every Book in the Library

Some of us are fantasy
Some of us are mystery
We all have something that makes us
great

Sometimes we fight
But we love each other always
We're so different, that makes us
special
Every book in the library.

Some of us are love stories
Some of us are action packed

We tell different stories, that makes us
great

Sometimes we fight
But we love each other always
We're so different, that makes us
special
Every book in the library.

Our pages tell the stories of all different people
We help the world learn
Our pages bring us different places
Where we can escape.

Sometimes we fight
But we love each other always
Every book in the library.
Every book in the library.

Pinnochio: I guess there is no reason to fight, we are all different and tell great stories.

Nose shrinks back to normal size

Snow Queen: You're right, I guess we should all just...let it go.

Everyone (sings): Let it go, let it go, I'm not holding back anymore. Let it go, let it go...
